

Psalm 90:14

Oh, satisfy us early with your mercy that we may rejoice and be glad all our days!
NKJV

Satisfy us early each morning with your unfailing love so we may sing for joy to the end of our lives. NLT

Satisfy:

saba`-to sate, i.e. fill to satisfaction

Early:

Boqer-dawn (as the break of day); generally, morning

Mercy:

Checed-kindness; piety; beauty

Rejoice:

Ranan-to creak (or emit a stridulous sound), i.e. to shout (usually for joy)

Glad:

Samach-to brighten up, i.e. be blithe or gleesome

This psalm is attributed to Moses. Moses was someone who understood a little about the mercy of God. In Exodus 33 and 34 we read the account of Moses asking God to show him his glory. As God passed by Moses he declared, The Lord, the Lord God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abounding in goodness and truth, keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, by no means clearing the guilty, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children and the children's children to the third and the fourth generation.
(Exodus 34:6-7 NKJV)

The Hebrew word used for satisfy means to sate. The word sate means to indulge an appetite fully and to indulge to excess; glut. It seems that Moses was asking God to pour out on his people an excessive amount of his kindness and beauty each morning. The result would be shouts of joy and gladness all of their days.
